

An Educator exhibits the following Best Practices...

Emotional Intelligence

- By appearing genuinely happy to be working with the student
 - By maintaining a healthy balance / boundary with informal conversation
-

Communal Learning

- By sharing their screen projecting the lesson content which they are discussing
 - By having their cameras turned on and encouraging the student to have theirs on
-

MultiModal Teaching Utilizing the Interactive Whiteboard

- By marking up the screen
 - By inviting and encouraging the student to mark up the screen
 - By sharing almost equal time writing on document as the student
-

Balanced Lesson Facilitation

- By asking open-ended questions to encourage verbal participation
 - By sharing almost equal speaking time as student
 - By frequently seeking evidence from student to gauge engagement and understanding
 - By assuming a role that more closely reflects learning facilitator than lecturer
-

A Focus on Addressing Student Needs

- Teacher answers students questions efficiently
 - Teacher answers students questions effectively leaving student satisfied
 - Teacher scaffolds learning offering varied levels of questions back to the student to assess the last retained knowledge before proceeding
 - Teacher minimizes outside distractions, including eating, interacting with others/pets, and doing non-lesson related activities during class time
-

Interested in learning more about the pedagogical incentives behind each of the listed items above? Click HERE